Hebrews 12:1b (NIV)

"And let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us."

A Journey Worth Doing

"There are no shortcuts to any place worth going".
This is a sign I read in a café recently.

For me, shortcuts are a constant temptation, especially when it comes to reading long books. I've recently finished a series of nine books. At times, especially when I was reading the last two books, I just wanted to skip to the end. I felt like I had enough of the plot already in my head, that I could make sense of the end. Thankfully I didn't do that and I laboured on until the final page. It was tough but rewarding!

I now know that I would have missed so much if I'd skipped through the pages of those last two books. Whilst it is slow and tedious at times to read every word, the author is constantly developing and building onto the characters and story to bring about a satisfying end.

We are the characters in God's book of life, which is still being written. Maybe you're like me and want to skip through the tough parts and get to the final page but God wants to use every life event to shape us into being more Christlike. Hebrews 12 v 1 says 'run with perseverance the race marked out for us'.

While I'd quite happily like to miss out on the opportunities to build my character, God has other plans. The events that God uses to build our character, can also be opportunities of witness to unbelievers as they see the way we trust God instead of giving in to despair, revenge or hopelessness.

Whilst it might all look a bit messy right now, trust God to bring you through in a way that brings Glory to Him.

I'm so grateful God has given us the gift of prayer and the Holy Spirit to support us through the trials of the journey.

God bless
